Message from the District Representative

Dear Brothers, Family, Friends, and Patrons of the Mighty Second District,

Welcome to the 69th Second District Conference! The District Marshals have worked hard to put on an outstanding District Conference for you. It has been my sincere honor with humility to serve you and Omega as your 35th District Representative. The Second District Conference, was founded in Brooklyn, N.Y. in 1947. This year, we celebrate 70 years as a District. A lot has occurred over the past 12 months and this leadership team hit the ground running to the 80th Grand Conclave in Las Vegas, Nevada and never slowed down. We have made a lot of progress and overcome a lot of obstacles. We have a lot of new Committee Chairman making significant contributions to our beloved 2nd District. Additionally, we have improved the efficiency and effectiveness of the 2nd District operations and our fraternity.

This is a critical time in our Nation! Our role as Omega Men must evolve during this civil rights struggle. We must innovate solutions to address the Social Injustice Issues we face at home and abroad. It is not if, but just a matter of time and location before the next incident. In this information age of social media, we must grow our male mentoring and fatherhood programs in the vision President Obama set for us. With anticipated dwindling resources from a new administration, we must continue to lead and work with other organizations to address the needs of our community.

Excellence is the standard in which we execute Omega's business. We must excel as Ambassadors of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, as we lead in our fraternity, our Alumni Associations, and in our communities. We must continue to inform the world of the goodness we do in our communities, and tell our stories in Social Media to demonstrate our character and our cardinal principles. As Omega Psi Phi looks for leadership, let the 2nd District's light shine. Just remember, we serve an awesome God and we have the talent, knowledge and drive to move our community forward. It is all about the work of Omega and advancing our District. Black Lives Matter!

Long the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity and the 2nd District,

Brother Sherman L. Charles
35th District Representative, Second District

Message from the

Director of Public Relations

Brothers of the Second District,

It is an honor and privilege to serve as your Director of Public Relations and it continues to be a labor of love. Omega is a clandestine organization; therefore we have the sole responsibility to chronicle our Chapters' success stories and Brothers' accomplishments. They must be recorded and preserved for perpetuity. Each Chapter Director of Public Relations, Chapter Editor, Reporter, and Photographer are vital contributors to the Omega publications, chronicling the history of the Second District.

The 2017 Conference Edition of The Omegan includes Second District Chapters' Talent Hunt Competitions, Mandated Memorial Services and various Social Action Initiatives. Accolades and approbations to Brother Dr. Jedan Phillips, as he continues enlightening us on health issues with his third Physicians' Corner article submission, "Cancer and its Impact on African American Men." Brother Quasim Rashad deserves our plaudits and encomiums for his insightful review of the controversial new movie "Burning Sands", directed and screenplay written by Brother Gerald McMurray.

Our 'Omega Men on the Move' section features great accomplishments of Second District Omega Men in their respective fields. Congratulate Brother Charles Coleman on producing and hosting his new web series 'Black Brilliance 360'. We showcase Brother Walter Gill's Autobiography "Yesterday's Tomorrow". It is a Father to Son legacy story: Father, Dr. Robert Gill, PhD, a Giant in Omega, Fraternity Historian, well-traveled, taught Tuskegee Airmen, highly accomplished educator; and Son, Dr. Walter Gill, PhD, well-traveled, accomplished author, educator and artist. It notes how Omega Men employed at Morgan State College, from the 40's to 70's, were dominant in all aspects of administration at Morgan and how Omega and Omega Men influenced Brother Gill's life.

Salutations to Brothers Terry Rodgers and Ashley Turnbull for their Opinion/Editorial articles, "A Call to Uphold Ritualistic Standards of Our Beloved Fraternity" and the necessity to chronicle chapter history in "History is a Beautiful Thing", respectively. I challenge more Brothers to respect, pen and submit your opinions on issues for inclusion in our District publication. As I view previous editions of the Oracle from the 20's, 30's, 40's and 50's, Brothers' Op/Ed submissions were numerous, on a high level and addressed a myriad of issues of the day. Their refined use of the written word is truly edifying and illuminating. Omega Men in FDR's Black Cabinet and the life of the Honorable Brother William Hastie are the focus of our Historical Perspective articles.

As always, the prime responsibility of this office is to assure Omegas publications to be scholarly, containing literary work intended to be insightful and thought-provoking featuring the aristocracy of Omega intellect. We will continue to "See It Through" and press on for the mark of this higher calling. Enjoy!

Fraternally,

Brother Ivan J. Bates, Esq. Premire Defense Attorney

of the most rewarding aspects of his career involves providing legal services to “others who didn’t really think they could have had a good lawyer,” Bates said. In some cases this has involved pro bono work, but it’s also meant providing counsel at a discounted rate to a mother working an extra shift to pay for a lawyer to represent her son, he said. “It’s the cases that no one has really heard about, the kids that I’m able to give a second chance, those are the cases I’m most proud of,” Bates said. Another career highlight has been starting his own firm, Baltimore-based Bates & Garcia PC, in 2006. “I like having my own business,” he said. “It lets you put your career in the direction you want it to go. It’s very rewarding.” He also gives back to his community and those he cares about: He created a nonprofit, the Baltimore United Foundation, to provide small donations mostly to local sports teams for new uniforms or a trip to a tournament, he said. He also makes it a point to speak and mentor to youth in the community, as he was mentored by two loving parents and a broader community that supported him. “I think being an African American, seeing how these younger kids look up to me, I’m able to sit down with them and help them understand some of the pitfalls and obstacles that are there,” he said.

Following his tour of duty, in the United States Army, 32nd Air Defense Artillery., he became an honor graduate of Howard University, School of Communications. Ivan received many prestigious awards and honors including the Lyndon Baines Johnson Internship and the General Motors Volunteer Award. He continued his education earning his Juris Doctorate at College of William and Mary, School of Law. There he was a recipient of the Public Service Fellowship, a member of the Black Law Student Association. A life member of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc., initiated through Alpha Alpha Chapter in 1994, he is currently a member of Pi Omega Chapter in Baltimore, MD.

Brother Ivan Bates, ESQ. has handled a number of high-profile cases as a criminal defense attorney. Bates currently represents Baltimore police Sgt. Alicia White, one of the highest ranking officers charged in connection with the death of Freddie Gray. He previously defended a Drug Enforcement Agency agent in the Silk Road case that ultimately led a federal judge to sentence the founder of the illegal online marketplace to life in jail.

Bates has also been on the other side of the courtroom as an assistant state’s attorney with the Baltimore City State’s Attorney’s Office. But one

Physicians' Corner - Cancer and Its Impact on African American Men

Brother Dr. Jedan Phillips

Brothers,

In this episode of the Omega Physician's Corner, we will be discussing cancer and its impact on African American men. The most common cancers that affect African-American men are prostate, lung, colon and rectal cancers. African-Americans have the highest cancer death rate and shortest cancer survival time of any racial or ethnic group in the United States. African-American men have the highest prostate cancer rates of any group. African-American men are twice more likely to die from prostate cancer than their white counterparts. African-Americans have the highest incidence of colorectal cancer in the United States. African-Americans also have the highest death rates amongst those impacted by colorectal cancers. African-Americans are more likely to be diagnosed with more advanced colorectal cancer. African Americans are less likely to have colonoscopy screening. Lung cancer is the second most common cancer in African-Americans. African-American men have higher rates of lung cancer than white man. Lung cancer is the leading cause of cancer death in African-Americans. There appears to be multiple contributing factors to these statistics that demonstrate the heavy burden that the African American community bears when he comes to these cancers. As I mentioned in my previous articles "Prevention is less costly to us then reaction". There is no medical issue where this is so evident other than these screenable cancers (prostate/colorectal/ lung). What can we do to put ourselves in the best situation when it comes to preventing cancer and/or identifying it early? Of course there are some basic lifestyle recommendations. These recommendations include avoidance of tobacco products and smoking. Maintaining a healthy weight through diet and exercise. Staying physically active through exercise. Consuming a healthy diet. And most importantly having your scheduled recommended screening test done. The screening test are best initiated through your primary care physician. I will provide some basic information pertaining to these cancers and their recommendations for screening. This should not be in place of you seeing your doctor and having a conversation with your doctor. Lung cancer— It is recommended to have an annual screening for lung cancer if you are an adult between the ages of 55 and 80 years old who has a 30 or greater-pack-year history of smoking or have quit smoking within the past 15 years. The recommended test is a low dose CAT scan of the chest without contrast.

Prostate Cancer— It is recommended that African-American man started having there screening at the age of 45 years old (It can start earlier if your medical history suggests). That screening will include prostate specific antigen (PSA) blood test and a digital rectal exam. This should be done annually.

Colorectal Cancer— The latest guidelines recommend African-American men having their first colorectal screening test done at the age of 45. The goal standard is the colonoscopy. They are some alternatives that can be done if one is apprehensive about having a colonoscopy done. If these alternative tests do show a positive result then the patient must have a colonoscopy to follow-up. The results of the colonoscopy will dictate the frequency that the subsequent surveillance colonoscopy should be done. If one chooses to have the other test in place of the colonoscopy, then those tests should be done annually and as stated earlier if the result is positive then that patient should have a colonoscopy.

A significant contributor to the cancer burden stated above is our lack of having scheduled screening tests done. These tests are done to try to catch these cancers as early as possible. If a cancer is diagnosed at an early stage then the treatment is less impactful on the patient. Again my brothers all of this starts with you seeing your doctor and having these conversations about the different components that go in to you maintaining your health. So my brothers remember prevention is a lot less costly to you then reaction when he comes to your medical care especially will be talk about cancer.

Joint Statement on Hazing in Response to the Movie Burning Sands

NPHC is comprised of local councils drawn from the ranks of 1.5 million college and professional members of the nine historically African-American fraternities and sororities, namely: Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc., Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc., Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Inc., Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc., Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc., Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc., Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc., Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority, Inc., and Iota Phi Theta Fraternity, Inc., and the Council of Presidents of these member organizations who come together on issues that promote the common purposes and general good for which these organizations exist.

In 1990, the NPHC organizations issued a joint statement announcing the elimination of pledging and each has instituted within its respective organization, a revised membership development and intake process.

Each NPHC organization has instituted strong policies against hazing and has taken steps to reinforce and strengthen its stand against prohibited conduct whether it is displayed through movies, books, or any type of social media.

NPHC and its member organizations have developed and instituted policies against hazing and have taken steps to reinforce and strengthen their stand against this prohibited conduct. Equally important, NPHC and its member organizations do not condone, support, or encourage the production of movies, books, or any type of social media that promote hazing.

“Burning Sands” Movie Review

The movie “Burning Sands” directed and produced by Omega Psi Phi Fraternity member Gerard McMurray (Alpha chapter 2002) is a dark drama about Black collegiate fraternity life and in particular Intake into a Black frat. It revolves around the fictitious fraternity, Lambda Lambda Phi. The movie’s backdrop is on an unnamed HBCU campus in a sleepy southern town. The film exposes much of the violence that is endemic in pledging a Black Greek lettered fraternity. It delves into the societal acceptance and dangers of pledging from multiple levels. The movie examines the “code of silence” maintained by the fraternity’s members, potential members, campus advisor, alum, students and even a faculty member. While there are some aspects that resemble Omega Psi Phi, Fraternity there is no actual connection to Omega. It could have been about any Black Greek lettered fraternity. The value in this film is the potential to create dialogue that can stimulate genuine results on how BGLOs deal with the problem of violence.

I know my views may not be popular with the membership of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity but the movie was fairly accurate. I also know many from my era will agree that is not how we pledged. We spent far more time pledging than getting hazed in the 70’s & 80’s. There is no place in Omega from what I saw in “Burning Sands” but the reality is it exists. In the scene where the main character and intake member Zurich meets with the character Dean Richardson the chapter’s advisor the conversation was all too real. It was an effective example of how older fraternity members sometimes perpetuate and re-enforce the inhumanity of hazing by denying its presence.

In this film there were no secrets of Omega betrayed. No indiscretions. Nowadays “Bruhs” view anything that if caught and it gets you into trouble as indiscrete. A “GDI” could have written the screenplay. The more we pretend like the public doesn’t know who we are and what we do the more our own denial becomes our greatest potential for harm. In 1980 my line’s “last meal” of Alpo dog food was in the cafeteria during “Hell Week” for all to behold. It had been done that way probably since Hell Week came into being on our campus. Yet, that also became a part of the underground. So when pledging went underground the underground part of pledging that was always there is all that was left. And that was the “SET”.

This film creates the potential for a narrative that all members of the D9 can relate to. It is not just an Omega problem. This movie doesn’t singularly indict Omega Psi Phi Fraternity but all BGLOs. And it highlights a major systemic issue that has been swept under the rug by BGLOs, colleges and universities and that is the tendency not to deal with it in a realistic manner. As far as Omega is concerned the culture of violence is likely the source and cause of a cancer in our organization. I would say it has much to do with our often times lack of discretion, occasional gross dereliction of proper care during intake, super low retention numbers, a culture that resembles gang like associations among chapters and an internal violence that has a tendency of spontaneous combustibility which are all telltale signs. It can even be concluded that the random violence we sometimes witness at informal Omega gatherings has a direct correlation to our “process”.

As Omega men we are members of the greatest Black Fraternity on the planet. We must embrace the underlying theme of “Burning Sands” as quoted by Alfre Woodard’s character in the film, which is one of Frederick Douglass’ most famous quotes: “It is easier to build strong children than to repair broken men”. The sort of hazing witnessed in the film Burning Sands demonstrably strips young people of their dignity and frequently places them unnecessarily in harms way. I submit to those who would say this film is not important or holds no value because we have greater issues in Omega that ignoring this film and not recognizing the golden jewel of reformation and restoration it presents is a major mistake and a failing we can ill afford.

Each episode features a cross-generational group of black men from a wide range of backgrounds engaging in conversations around various topics like commitment and relationships (episode 1) and identity and manhood. It may not always be pretty, but we want it to be authentic and honest," said Coleman, who is host of the show. Coleman says that the plan is to drop a new episode every three weeks, but in between shows, extra content like outtakes and interviews with contributors, along with Twitter chats, will keep the conversations started by the webisodes going. Brother David Charon Presents Bond Bill for Tau Pi Fraternity Center Project

Brother David Charon

Columbia, MD. March 2017. Bro. David Charon, Immediate Past and 21st Basileus of Tau Pi Chapter, has represented the chapter in preparing, requesting and presenting a Bond Bill proposal to financially support our Fraternity Center project. He has admirably presented the bond proposal to the County and Maryland State Boards. At the present time, we are awaiting final approval from the State Board of Estimates.

Bro. Charon was initiated into the fraternity through Tau Pi Chapter on April 11, 1987. He graduated from the University of Maryland Eastern Shore with a Bachelor of Science degree in Hotel and Restaurant Management and Accounting. He currently is the President/CEO of a State Farm Agency with over $4 million dollars in Operating Revenue located in Glen Burnie, MD.

In addition to serving as Basileus, he was Vice Basileus and served on and chaired many of the chapter's committees. Most notable committees were Achievement Week/Founders Day; Boat Ride; Talent Hunt; Gospel Concert; and Reclamation/Retention. For his outstanding work, he has been presented the chapter's Omega Man of the Year twice.

In addition to the aforementioned, he has found time to serve as a Board Member on Howard County African American Community Roundtable as its fundraising chair. This committee has brought a keen awareness of the disparities between other nationalities and African American students in the Howard County Public School System. A recent major issue was the high number of suspensions of African American students. Of course with loss of school days, this only exacerbated an already significant achievement gap, especially for our male students.

Bro. Charon, unlike many ex-officers has not shied away or scaled back his energy and involvement in doing the business of Omega after serving as Basileus. While serving he knew there were a myriad of things that needed to be addressed and resolved. His Omega spirit just would not let him walk away or become a pin wearer and being a Be Qwt Bruh.

Tau Pi Pre-Valentine Day "Love Concert"

Tau Pi Brothers with Wives at the "Love Concert"

Columbia, MD. February 2017. Love was in the air! On February 12, 2017, close to twenty Tau Pi Bruhs and their "sweethearts" attended the Pre-Valentine's Day "Love Concert" at the Bethesda Blues and Jazz Club. It was an evening of spectacular music and food. Since a lot of Bruhs are married to DSTs, let's say there was a lot of Coleman Love in the atmosphere. Jeff Bradshaw, the headline act, is a very talented trombone player who has toured with the likes of the great Jill Scott and Robert Glasper. The evening began with drinks and hors d'oeuvres as brothers and their significant others had a chance to mingle and fellowship. This was a Reclamation and Retention committee event. At Tau Pi chapter, we are committed to keeping brothers engaged and creating activities and events that promotes friendship and fellowship.

International Talent Hunt Foundation, Inc.

In 2006, the International Talent Hunt Committee (ITHC) held its first retreat in Atlanta, Georgia. Meetings were held at the International Headquarters (IHQ) in the Supreme Council Conference Room, where 9 of 12 District Talent Hunt Chairmen were in attendance, along with the chairman and vice chairman of the ITHC and the Assistant Director of Operations at IHQ.

During the weekend of our retreat, there was great deal of discussion about the International Talent Hunt Guidelines and other concerns and issues, as well as ways to enhance our Talent Hunt efforts. A major point of conversation was ways to enhance funding for our International Talent Hunt Program. It was recommended that we establish a 501(c)(3) foundation focused on promoting the arts and advancing the artistic opportunities for our young people.

After a series of conference calls and written correspondences, it was decided to make a recommendation to the Grand Conclave to create a Talent Hunt non-profit organization. That recommendation was submitted for consideration on April 21, 2010. It was at the 77th Grand Conclave in Raleigh, NC that the Conclave delegation approved the establishment of a foundation to support the visual and performing arts endeavors of the ITHC, a separate body with no input into the operation of the foundation. The official name of the of the organization is the International Talent Hunt Foundation, Inc.(ITHF), which was approved by the Internal Revenue Service as a 501(c)(3) organization in December 2014.

Since its establishment, the ITHF has created by-laws to govern its work, selected 10 board members with tiered terms, developed an informational/donor brochure, signed a licensing and branding agreement with OPPE, Inc., convened for its inaugural NV, and held a silent auction of some prints of famous athletes – Michael Jordan, Steve McNair, Alonzo Mourning, Shaquille O’Neal, and Charlie Ward. Plans are in the works to enhance its fundraising efforts to include an individual giving campaign. The ITHF was formed to support the International Talent Hunt Program. The hope is to eventually offer financial support to chapters for visual and performing arts programming for young people.

As a part of your charitable giving for 2017, the ITHF requests that you consider a contribution for the uplift of our gifted and artistically talented young people. Your donation will support the foundation with providing resources and opportunities for our young people who participate in the International Talent Hunt Demonstration (ITHD). The ITHD is now every year due to the efforts of the International Talent Hunt Committee that lobbied the Conclave to approve the demonstration as an annual event. Donations may be made by accessing the ITHF website at internationaltalenthuntfoundation.org and clicking on the donation tab.

If you have questions please contact Director Larry C. Pough, Chairman, ITHF Board of Directors at lcough@gmail.com or at 585-507-1245.

Omega Men Give Powerful Testimony in Annapolis MD on Shared Parenting Bill

l-r Frank Malone, Founder/CEO of the 100 Fathers, Inc. David Smith, Co-Founder/Executive Director of the Children's Rights Fund, Author of the Bill, Senator, C. Anthony Muse, Brother Honorable Judge Arthur Burnett Sr., Ms. Shaynel Caldwell, Founder/Executive Director of Our Blended Families, Inc., Thabiti Boone, Former President Obama White House Fatherhood Champion and Representative, and Jeffery Diggs, Mu Rho Basileus

Annapolis, MD. March 9, 2017. Members of the 2nd and 3rd District of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc., provided leadership and testimony in Annapolis, Maryland in support of a major Shared Parenting Bill. The Fatherhood and Mentoring Committee members joined forces at the Senate Judiciary Committee Hearing in support of a major Shared Parenting Bill that increases Father's Parent Time and Involvement with their children, (SB0905). This extremely important bill increases Father's Parent Time and Involvement with their children. It will help change the trajectory for families and certainly aid in putting order back in place in regards to father's spending more time with their children healthy development. Brothers that provided significant testimonies were: Honorable renowned and distinguished Judge Arthur Burnett, Washington, DC 3rd District; joined by Frank Malone, Co Commissioner, Office of the Mayor, Washington, DC, Commission on Black Men & Boys; CEO of Hundred (100) Fathers, Inc., Washington, DC 3rd District; and Thabiti Boone, former President Obama White House Representative. Standing in support Brothers Jeffrey Diggs, Mu Rho Basileus and member of 2nd District Fatherhood and Mentoring Committee. Also, the Right Reverend Brother Courtney Miller, 3rd District Chaplain.

Far too many Fathers are continually challenged with receiving minimal time and access to their children. One of the biggest "barriers" to father's time with their children, are laws and policies set by political officials, which are enforced and promoted by Family Courts. Shared Parenting Bill removes the systemic bias against Father's, putting into law father's right to more time with their children.

Maryland State Senator, C. Anthony Muse, sponsored of the Shared Parenting Bill received the necessary votes in favor of the Bill. Senator Muse thanked the members of the Fraternity who testified on behalf of the Bill. He expressed, the Bill was well received, due in part, to the powerful Omega Men testimony and the Fraternity working with Father's, through its Fatherhood Mentoring Initiative.

Next Step:

Shared Parenting Bill will move to the House Judiciary Committee for final hearing. Senator Muse will plan meeting with Fraternity regarding our efforts to once again testify & extend support for the Bill. Once the Bill clears House Committee, it will then become law. Let's all continue to be reminded, Father's need support and advocacy. They want to be in the lives of their children. Fraternity working with Father's is in the best interest of the children and families that need them. Xi Phi's Omega Black College Tour

New York, New York . March 2017. Since its inception in 1986, the Omega Black College Tour has become arguably one of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity's most successful and recognized programs. The Omega Black College Tour program identifies and prepares students of color for visitation and academic review of Historically Black Colleges and Universities and, ultimately for leadership roles in our society. Partnering with tristate area high schools, community organizations, non-profit foundations and state agencies, the program introduces a multitude of students, eager to learn about higher education opportunities, to college admissions administrators from the campuses of Historically Black Colleges and Universities.

Omega Black College Tour students come from 2nd District households throughout New York City's five boroughs, New Jersey, Westchester, and Connecticut. Our comprehensive approach begins with an aggressive, citywide student talent search in which roughly between 300 to 500 nominated youngsters are selected for approximately 50 seats. The selected students complete a five-weekend workshop program which includes two parental workshop sessions. During the tour students' academic portfolios are presented to admissions administrators and students who successfully meet the college's or university's highest standards often earn on-the-spot admission offers from some of the nation's top such as Howard University, Hampton University, Spelman College, Morehouse College, North Carolina A&T University, Clark-Atlanta University, Norfolk State University, Morgan University, North Carolina Central University, Delaware State University and University of Maryland Eastern Shore. Many of the 2017 senior student scholars were accepted to one or more HBCU's.

Students who attended this year's college tour workshops were also able to draw inspiration from Bronx District Attorney Darcel Denise Clark, New York's first African-American female DA and a Howard University graduate. DA Clark reinforced the relationship between hard work, seeking opportunities and community support. These fundamentals align with the lifelong impact of our fraternity's Cardinal Principals. Particularly for the hard-working students who, through circumstances beyond their control, need a little extra help to reach their goals.

The program has proudly reached the stage where Omega Black College Tour alumni consistently take immediate advantage of the robust academic lessons learned during the Omega BCT workshops. 2016 Omega BCT alum Naliah Wright, a Staton Scholarship recipient and current freshman at Hampton University is a wonderful example. She writes "to those who donate, you turn dreamers into achievers, and turn hopeless thoughts to hope. I would not be at Hampton without the men of Xi Phi Chapter, the Omega Black College Tour and its supporters. I made the Dean's List this year as a freshman and plan to do even better as a sophomore – I will continue to make you proud."

"Over the years, the Omega BCT ranks have grown to include a doctor, a few lawyers, countless educators, administrators and corporate executives, and even an NFL player. The Omega Black College Tour program builds character and changes lives. I'm not only the 2016 and 2017 Omega BCT Committee Chairman but an alumnus." Bro. Michael Gilbert

Xi Lambda Lambda Rockland Person of the Year

Wylene Branton Wood

Rockland County, NY. March 2017. Wylene Branton Wood is a lifelong educator, who as a teacher and volunteer has involved herself in activities to promote education, social justice and equality. Born in Pine Bluff, Arkansas, Wylene grew up in a family and a community involved in calling for justice and battling segregation. She spent her teen years in Atlanta, Georgia, and in Washington, DC.

She received her bachelor’s degree from Spelman College in Atlanta in 1971 and a graduate degree in English Language and Literature from the University of Chicago. She began a 32 year teaching career at TV College, a part of Chicago City Colleges. Later, she taught for the Los Angeles Unified School District and then for LA Southwest College and Los Angeles Trade Technical College, where she achieved the rank of professor. Moving east, she taught at Montgomery College in Rockville, Maryland, and upon moving to Morris County, NJ, she taught for the Mount Olive School District, where she remained for seventeen years until her retirement from active teaching in 2004.

Her post-retirement years have been spent in Rockland County, NY, where she has continued her commitment to education by coordinating major educational and cultural events for the Rockland County community, especially for its youth. On behalf of the African American Historical Society of Rockland County, she was Co-Chair of the Amistad Visit to Haverstraw and Coordinator of the A Mighty River programming for 2009 and 2010. In 2011 she coordinated programming for IndiVisible: African-Native American Lives in the Americas,” programming to celebrate and enhance the visiting exhibit from the Smithsonian National Museum of the American Indian; in 2012 she orchestrated “Changemakers: Songs and Images of the Civil Rights Movement”; in 2013 for she interviewed key veterans of the 1960’s Civil Rights Movement and coordinated “The Vote in America: Struggle, Challenge and Change; and in 2014 she scripted and organized a program called “A Glimpse of the Harlem Renaissance.” In 2015 the program she coordinated was entitled “I, Too, Sing America: The Contributions and Challenges of African Americans in the US Military (Part I—American Revolution to World War II). This program featured interviews with noted Veterans such as General Colin Powell, Sergeant Sanders Matthews, Dr. Olivia Hooker and Dr. Roscoe Brown. (These interviews have even greater significance now as Mr. Matthews and Dr. Brown both, unfortunately, passed away in recent months.) Then, in 2016 Wylene orchestrated “The Gift of Music,” highlighting the musical contributions of Black people from classical to spirituals, from ragtime to jazz. (It was due to the interest in and curiosity about spirituals that the theme for 2017’s program was selected: “A Faithful Journey: The American Negro Spiritual,” featuring RCC Performing Arts students and alumni and Opera Noire of New York.)

Wylene’s vision created these multi-disciplinary events on behalf of the African American Historical Society of Rockland County and in partnership with Rockland Community College and the RCC Performing Arts Department and early on with The CEJES Institute and the Rockland African Diaspora Heritage Center. The programs, offered free each February, have been made possible by generous grants from community-minded entities and have been presented each year to 500 or more students from schools across Rockland County as well as to hundreds of individuals from the community-at-large.

A supporter of the Nyack and Spring Valley NAACP organizations, Wylene also serves on the Board of Directors of VCS, Inc., where she is fulfilling her third term as President. We have affectionately named this unique program “To Artina Initiative”. Our goal is to let the widows know that we still love and care about them. Widows were visited by individual teams which consisted of a senior/elder Brother (Team Captain), a recently reclaimed brother, and a neophyte to best represent our beloved Fraternity and Chapter. This year’s team captains were: Bro. John Metz, Bro. James Key Jr., Bro. Horace Baldwin, Bro. Byron Ward, Bro. JohnTucker, and Bro. Mike Smith. During the visits, we presented each Quette a bouquet of flowers and greeting card (signed by Chapter Brothers) along with an a recent copy of our OX Chapter Yearbook. In return, the ladies shared wonderful stories of the past about themselves and our fallen Brothers as well as provided us an update on the latest activities of their grandchildren. Unfortunately, this year we had a number of widows that were ill and not available for visitation. In those cases, we are in contact with their families and will plan visits in the near future. All-in-all this program is extremely fulfilling and enriching for both the widows as well as the Brothers.

Omicron Chi Hosts 1st Annual Bishop Love Prayer Breakfast

Brother Richard Anderson bringing the Word during the Prayer Breakfast

Plainfield, NJ - March 4, 2017 - In the spirit of bringing men of Omega together to praise the Lord, Omicron Chi hosted its 1st Annual Bishop Edgar Amos Love Prayer Breakfast at the St. Johns Baptist Church in Scotch Plains, NJ on Saturday morning from 8:30am to 10:15am.

The nearly 75 attendees were truly blessed by the Word as delivered through brief uplifting sermons on Omega’s four cardinal principles as presented by Brothers in ministry including former Omicron Chi Basileus Rev. Morris Lucky and three Brothers currently studying at Princeton Theological Seminary -- Rev. Brenton Brock, Rev. Richard Anderson and

Rev. Dr. Marcus Tillery.

In an environment in which mass media’s images of African American men can be portrayed negatively, the event was successful in creating a public forum for Brothers to uplift each other spiritually. The energy in the room was palpable, as reflected by Brother Lucky who noted, “I felt the strength of the Lord this morning!” The event Chairman Brother Jeff Olive added, “God is good and worthy to be praised for what He did this morning. He used each one of us to His glory.” Attendees left the event enthusiastic about expanding the program in the future.

Omicron Chi Ques Fellowship at Big East Basketball Game

Plainfield, NJ. February 28th 2017. The “Mighty OX” Omicron Chi Chapter had a Reclamation, Retention, and Friendship event at the Prudential Center in Newark, NJ. The event was a Big East Men’s Basketball game which featured The Seton Hall Pirates vs. The Georgetown Hoyas. Omicron Chi Chapter typically host events such as these as a way to fellowship amongst brothers and reclaim those that want to be reclaimed. Brothers from Omicron Chi and Eta Pi Chapters were among the 21 in attendance which also included family and friends. One brother that was not affiliated with either chapter took the liberty of paying his dues and became a member of Omicron Chi on the spot!!

As for the game, it was your typical Big East battle, back and forth action, mano a mano, going down to the last shot with Georgetown narrowly missing a three pointer that would have tied the game, allowing Seton Hall to hang on to a hard fought 62-59 victory!! All in all the event was a success. Brothers got a chance to see a good game, have fun and most importantly strengthen those bonds of Friendship through Fellowship.

Bro. Fred Harris and Bro. Terrence Onyiuke leading a Omega Leadership Institute Workshop

Plainfield, NJ. February 27, 2017. On Sunday March 5th, 2017 Omicron Chi Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. launched its 5th cohort of the Omega Leadership Institute (OLI) Mentoring program. After an outstanding program cycle in the Spring of 2016, the Spring 2017 Omega Leadership Institute campaign is a breakthrough year in terms of student participation, content development and execution. Starting with six scholars in our initial pilot program in 2013, the OLI expanded its reach to support 20 intelligent and enthusiastic young men in 2017. The program continues to develop exciting, innovative, and relevant workshop content while serving as a model for youth leadership development.

In 2013, The Omicron Chi chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. established The Omega Leadership Institute (OLI) to provide college bound African-American males (14-18 years old) in the Union County and Central New Jersey region with the encouragement, leadership skills, and support to make meaningful contributions to their communities. Through the intensive leadership development sessions, the OLI exposes student participants to higher education and includes motivational speakers, leadership exercises, small group sessions, interactive workshops, and access to business professionals and community leaders. The program is conducted in the Spring of each year and consists of a 10 week life-skills curriculum developed and administered by the members of Omicron Chi Chapter and external partners.

The Spring 2017 OLI Cohort's theme is "Doing the Right Things Right" and will focus on Leadership Development skills including Decision Making, Character, Morals, and Community. The Spring 2017 Cohort includes workshops like: Personal Branding, Defining Values, Morals and Ethics, Decision Making, Teens and the Law and Ethics in Business/ The Brothers of Omicron Chi Chapter have made it an imperative to develop the next generation of African-American Male leaders for the public, private, non-profit, and entrepreneurial sectors. The Men of the "Mighty OX" support the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity's national "Fatherhood Initiative" and President Barack Obama's "My Brother's Keeper (MBK) Foundation's efforts. Omicron Chi Chapter's Basileus, Brother Leon Smith II states "when scholars leave the OLI program, they are more energized to become involved in their schools and communities and are more tolerant and open-minded of those around them." OLI Scholars have shared that they have a focus on their future and a vision for transformational impact on our communities.

Beta Iota Iota Year in Review

Vineland NJ. December. 2016. Beta Iota Iota started the year off with a little sweet-heart dinner. We close out year 105 with the mandated Programs and our Sweet Heart Dinner. By practicing Psalms 133, the Omega men took their wives out for a little Valentine’s Day dinner. Led by three members who have been doing this since 1990 Brother Melvin Scott (Upslion 1949), Brother Robert Dunn (Beta Gamma 1950) and Brother Thomas Lane IV (Beta Gamma 1950). Although there are a number of members in our chapter that deserve recognition, I felt it was important to recognize these three for their 67 and 66 years of service to the Fraternity. As we move through the months, the chapter hosted Omega Relays. This is a track and field event that the Omega Men host for Middle Schools around South Jersey. This sport has provided a safe place from being in the street and or home. Track has saved so many kids in the city of Bridgeton. We offer kids, a free tee shirt, medals for 1st, 2nd and 3rd place finish, as well as a 1st, 2nd and 3rd place trophy for each team that takes the top 3 spots girls and boys for their school trophy case.

Our next event that we hosted was our annual Blood Drive. Every year we have a minimum of 30 people show up and donate blood. We have a goal set at 25 and with 18 active members, it’s pretty easy for each Brother to bring one person to reach our goal. Although some brothers bring more, it’s a great opportunity for all of us to see the good that we do in providing blood to help save another life.

Our third event happened towards the end of October, with our Road-Side Clean up. Brother Jonathan Girffin (FA 96 Kappa Eta), Brother Linval Lewis (FA 96 Phi Kappa) and myself Brother Curtis Custis (SP 14 Beta Iota Iota) took it upon our self to make sure this community service event was complete on a road that was adopted by Omega Psi Phi Inc.

Our Scholarship Affair event is normally held on a Saturday afternoon for four-hours around Founder’s Day. We select one male student (High School or College) from the Cumberland County Area that exemplifies our four Cardinal Principles. This year we chose a young man that goes to Temple University, Ryquell Armstead of Millville N.J. Although he was not in attendance due to his game, his mother was in attendance to accept his award. This year the speaker mentioned a key to our society’s success. “mentoring our youth”. Mentoring give’s our youth a chance at being successful, rather than give our youth a chance at failure.” We the members of Beta Iota Iota will strive to be good Men for Omega Psi Phi Fraternity Inc. We strive on excelling and as we move to another year, we will continue to learn progress and uplift.

Brothers gather to prepare transition baskets for the Carroll House Men's Shelter

Silver Spring, MD, January 16, 2017. Mu Nu Chapter (Montgomery County, MD) joined with the ladies of Delta Sigma Theta, Inc., Montgomery County (MD) Alumnae Chapter, for the Martin Luther King (MLK) Day of Service in recognition of the MLK Federal holiday – “A Day On, Not a Day Off”. Nu Upsilon Holiday Community Uplift

Wilmington, DE. December 2016. For the past 15 years, holiday community outreach has been a key aspect of the Nu Upsilon Chapter's Social Action agenda. December 2016 was no different; the Brothers of Nu Upsilon hosted its Annual Breakfast with Santa event for children on the east side of Wilmington. Approximately 70 children, ranging in age from 16 months to 15 years old, attended the event with a parent/guardian. The families were treated to a delicious breakfast that was prepared by Brother of Nu Upsilon and served by volunteers from Discover Card, the Kingswood Community Center (site of the event for 13 out of 15 years), sorors of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. and other community members. In addition to the nutritious breakfast, the participants were engaged in a variety of games, arts and crafts to include making ornaments and greeting cards, and line dancing. The Grand Finale of the event was the entrance of Santa, portrayed by Bro. Andre Thornton of Nu Upsilon. Each of the young people had the opportunity to have a picture taken with Santa and were treated to a book, a play item, and a clothing item. With gratitude, the young people and their parents/guardians expressed their appreciation by saying, Thank You, and some even made thank you cards. The Breakfast with Santa event is a signature Social Action activity for Nu Upsilon and demonstrates the chapter's commitment to providing Uplift to our community.

Brother Dr. Walter A. H. Gill Pens Autobiography “Yesterday’s Tommorrow”

Brother Dr. Walter A. H. Gill

Baltimore, MD, September 2016. Yesterday’s Tomorrow is Walter Gill’s autobiographical depiction of family’s survival in the Black Diaspora of the 1930’s to the still defacto segregation of today. It speaks of one family’s journey, using the green book, to survive the drive in the Jim Crow South, moving from town to town for a father’s employment to support his family, teaching at different HBCU’s. Fraternally, it is the Father to Son legacy story: Father, Dr. Robert Gill, a Giant in Omega, PhD, author of the History of the Fraternity, well traveled, taught Tuskegee Airmen, highly accomplished educator and Son, PhD, well traveled, accomplished author, educator and artist.

It tells how Omega Men employed at Morgan State College, in the 40’s to 70’s, were dominate in all aspects of administration on the College and how Omega and Omega men influenced and continue to be significant in Walter’s life. He chronicles his friendships with fraternity Brothers who became giants in their respective fields, such as Lonnie Liston Smith, musician, Earl Graves, publisher Black Enterprise and The Honorable George K. McKinney, the first African American to be appointed U.S. Marshal for the District of Maryland, and whose career in federal service spanned more than four decades and served President Nixon on a subpoena to turn over White House tapes relating to the Watergate scandal. It documents Walter’s family life through historical events with relative ease, while telling the effects of each life experience, making him to be one of the true great spirits of our time. It is the story of loves, loves lost and finally finding one true love. This is a great African American history lesson of a great lifewith an emphasis on education is the key to a great life. A must read. Brother Dr Walter A. H. Gill was initiated in 1957 through Pi Chapter and is currently a memembr of Pi Omega Chapter.

The Urban Professor

Walter Gill is a teacher, author, artist, actor and former university professor. Born in Greenville, Mississippi, he attended public schools in Jefferson City, Missouri and Baltimore, Maryland. For 22 years he was a university administrator or professor which included employment at Bowie State University (MD), Morgan State University (MD) and the University of Nebraska at Omaha where he was recommended for tenure. Dr. Gill has spent 26 years with children and youth as an art and social studies teacher, counselor for at-risk youth and delinquent males, director of a boys club, a year-long project for inner-city African American middle school males, and as a social worker in foster care. Seventeen years were spent with adjudicated and delinquent youth in three states.

As an artist, he has engaged in painting, collages, crafts, ceramics, photography, films, clothing design, and acted in community theatre. He received a Best Supporting Actor Award from Center Stage for his portrayal of “Getlow” in Purlie; and Best Actor in a Musical or Comedy as “Lucian” in The Boys Next Door, from the Omaha (NE) Community Playhouse. He had a brief part in a Homicide: Life on the Streets episode.

Dr. Gill has authored the forementioned autobiography, Yesterday’s Tomorrow, three books on urban education: Teaching in Urban America: A Formula for Change; Issues in African American Education (1991) and A Common Sense Guide to Non-traditional Urban Education (1997); and A. Frances Nichols Gill Family Pictorial History. Gill was one of three reviewers for the Islamic publication By Dawns Early Light.

As an urban educator, Dr. Gill has excelled with hard-to-reach, challenged and delinquent males as documented on film, television and in newspapers. He is an adjunct professor at Towson University (Maryland) in the Department of Early Childhood Education and teaches two sections of “Teaching and Learning in a Diverse Society.”

Dr. Gill also advocates for children in foster care: he was appointed by the Governor of Maryland to serve on the Citizens Review Board for Children for the Baltimore City, Department of Social Services; and he is President of the Governing Board of Seraaj Family Homes, Inc. headquartered in Montgomery, Alabama with six offices, and offices in Omaha, Nebraska, Washington, D.C., Riverdale and Baltimore, Maryland. Dr. Gill attempts to live in the image of his father, Dr. Robert L. Gill, author of The History of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity and the Men Who Made Its History. His mother Rubye Harris a scholar-athletic-music teacher and community activist was key to his interest in the arts. He also designed and promotes the “I Love Baltimore – The Harbor City” tee shirts.

A Call to Uphold the Ritualistic Standards of Our Beloved Fraternity

Brother Terry Rodgers

Over the years I have witnessed a troubling degradation of the high ideals and standards of Omega Psi Phi, which I believe is the result of an ad hoc proliferation of local customs that is leading to secularization of our organization. From chapter to chapter and district to district the evidence of non-standard practices is visible in many, many areas, but nowhere is it more pronounced than in our most sacred ceremonies, which are the Initiation, the Memorial Service and the Omega Service.

For example, in the conduct of the Omega Service, our most sacred ceremony, many chapters have taken to infusing their own "local customs" in how this Ritualistic duty is carried out. The dress code is not strictly enforced, songs other than Precious Lord are included, poems such as

"When We Wear the Gloves" and other such deviations have become routine. It is equally troubling when Brothers show up at other sacred ceremonies like our Memorial Services improperly attired and yet they are allowed to participate and are included in Official Omega photographs.

While some of these renditions are "nice touches" and pleasing to behold, especially "When We Wear The Gloves" my personal favorite, unfortunately they are not in compliance with the Ritual, the Policy and Procedures Manual, the Protocol Handbook or other sanctioned documents. With the Fraternity being some 106 years old, evolution is not only inevitable, but it is expected. Fortunately we have been given the tools, mechanisms and processes to allow for adaptation of change. Those tools include our ability to propose recommendations to our Constitution and By-Laws, and to make revisions to the Policy and Procedures Manual, through proper channels. Once those recommendations are adopted and published, we will then have a standard by which we can operate. Brothers, I feel that our Founders only required three Sacred Ritual Ceremonies which are the Initiation, an annual Memorial Service and an OMEGA Service and I would ask that we do all in our power to maintain the sanctity, tradition and standardization of these events. Let us go through the proper channels before blindly accepting derivations to the most sacred of our traditions, lest we lose the sense of importance and value of our Ritual.

Many of us cringe when we look at today's status quo behavior, tongue wagging, violence and brutality of Brother on Brother incidents, greening, hazing, "Betty Crocker" challenges, and indiscretions in public behavior. We have allowed our standards to slip in many areas; I just want us to preserve some sense of tradition in our Ritualistic mandates. It's really all that we have left, as we strive to uphold the promise that our Founders made to Dean Kelly Miller that we "would be like-minded men to them and uphold the high ideals and standards, ad-infinitum".

History Is A Beautiful Thing

Brother Ashley Turnbull

A few years ago, I asked 39th Grand Basileus, Brother Dr. Andrew Ray to sign my Omega history book. We engaged in a five minute conversation concerning the current state of Omega history. Brother Grand Dr. Ray stated "If you do not write your history, someone else will write if for you"! I never forgot those words and being a history enthusiast, it motivated me to seek additional history and knowledge.

During the past few years, I have audio- and video-recorded numerous public forums in which 28th Grand Basileus James Avery and 39th Grand Basileus Dr. Andrew Ray spoke to our Brotherhood. I hope to submit those recordings to our District and National offices so they can be placed in our historic archives. My Undergraduate Chapter (Kappa Eta Chapter, founded in 1975 at Seton Hall University in South Orange, New Jersey) just celebrated its 40th Anniversary. During the planning stages of our Anniversary Weekend Celebration, I volunteered to chronicle a Chapter history book. Many of the Chapter Brothers were excited and stated they would contribute in whatever ways they could. I asked Brothers to find their line pictures, flyers and any public documentation concerning the Chapter. Some Brothers scanned in pictures and emailed their information to me. I found out that many of the Brothers who pledged in the early '70's were not computer savvy; they had information which I could use, but could not get it to me via "electronic" medium. I decided to purchase a portable handheld scanner (approx. cost $50), met my non-computer savvy brethren at various locations (their homes, restaurants or bars) and scanned in the pictures and documents they wanted to contribute to the history book. As we fellowshiped, I scanned in pictures, discussed the climate of various universities who were concerned with subjects like the Black Power moment and our Fraternity's Chapter on their campus. I also found out that some Brothers were involved in campus sit-ins and protest rallies at various locations. Some Brothers were even arrested during those activities.

Another Brother mentioned that there were many school officials (some black, some white) who did not want the Brothers to have a Chapter at Seton Hall University. Brother Joseph Rouse (Kappa Eta Chapter, '75) stated "There would be no Kappa Eta Chapter if Monsignor Thomas Fahy, Ph.D. Seton Hall University President 1970-1976 did not stand in line with our Brothers to obtain the Chapter". As I continued to receive various pictures of large afros, thick sideburns (and coke bottle-shaped sweethearts and sisters of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority), I started to wonder where those Omega Brothers of the 70's might be. Some of them I'd have met and others have entered Omega Chapter but many others? Their whereabouts are currently "unknown". As I began to produce hard copies of the draft of the history book, I would travel to various Fraternity Chapter meetings and events and display portions of my chronicle; I would witness the excitement in the eyes of our Brothers as they saw their names in the book. As I continued to display the book, I'd recruit additional Brothers to submit information as well as corrections. I made several revisions and additions including pledge lines prior to Kappa Eta Chapter, the Omega Memorial Services, 13th, 21st, 25th, 30th and 40th Anniversary pictures and documents. I also created several two minute video presentations of which Brother Steve Barnes (Iota Eta Chapter, 1970) discussed the first undergraduate line in the state and campus, political and social issues in the early '70's. History continues to change. Technology allows us to document and update our history within an affordable budget. All anyone needs is the willingness to WORK!

This history project has enriched my life in more ways that I can express. I am leaving my Chapter, my Corridor, my District and my Fraternity with an historic documentation of 40 Years of history! What will be YOUR legacy? My Omega Brothers, I am asking you to write/document your Chapter's history. Leave a legacy for others to follow and continue. Feel free to contact me if I can be of any assistance to you or your Chapter.

Psi Iota Takes a Stand Against Domestic Violence

Psi Iota Brothers with Jack A. Markell, Governor of Delaware at the proclamation signing

Dover, DE. October 11, 2016. The Brothers of Psi Iota took part in the proclamation signing by the Governor of Delaware, Jack A. Markell, in conjunction with the Domestic Violence Coordinating Council (DVCC) and the Delaware Coalition Against Domestic Violence.

The DVCC tracks domestic violence-related deaths that occur throughout the State of Delaware. These domestic violence-related deaths include victims, perpetrators, or by-standers if the death was a result of domestic violence, either intimate partner violence or between family members.

Between 1996 and 2015 in the state of Delaware, there were a total of 112 domestic violence-related homicide victims. The leading cause of the homicide was via a stabbing of the girlfriend or wife of the offender. According to the National Domestic Violence Hotline, female intimate partners are more likely to be murdered with a firearm than all other means combined. However, in Delaware during 2015, there was one homicide victim killed by gunshot which is unusual when compared to previous years. A more alarming fact is that domestic violence affects our children as well. Statistics shows that 122 children lost a parent to domestic violence homicide and two children were impacted by near death of a parent.

Following the proclamation signing, The Brothers of Psi Iota took it one step further and went to social media to show how important it is to bring awareness to stop domestic violence. The Brothers took to social media posting pictures with the caption, "I am an Omega and I stand up and speak out against domestic violence."

For those who have been victimized we want you to know that you have a voice.

"The enemy doesn't stand a chance when the victim decides to survive."

Psi Iota Flint Clean Water Crisis Project

Brother Gavin with the students of Wesley University

Dover, Delaware. February 23, 2016. The Brothers of Psi Iota Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. partnered with Wesley College, 50k Souls and Pastor Carlos Cannon to provide water to those that are in the heart of the water crisis in Flint, Michigan.

Many of us cannot imagine turning on a water faucet but not having clean, drinkable water. However, this is the reality for the residents in Flint. Flint is located 70 miles north of Detroit, where close to half of its residents live below the poverty line. The Flint water crisis began in 2014 when the Flint River became the primary source for water. The issue is that this water supply has historically been tainted and was never cleaned prior to becoming the main water source.

A cry for help came from our brothers and sisters in Flint. They were warned that the water contained byproducts of disinfectants that may cause health issues. The residents of Flint needed our help and Psi Iota answered the call.

A GoFundMe account was set up by Psi Iota Chapter to help raise money for the people of Flint, Michigan. The goal was to take the money raised and buy two pallets of water to be transported to Flint, Michigan. With the assistance from Wesley College, 50k Souls and Pastor Carlos Cannon, the water was purchased and put on a tractor trailer to be transported. In total, 147 cases of water were purchased, packaged and sent to the citizens of Flint.

The Brothers of Psi Iota were well pleased to do their part in assisting those who are in crisis. “The Greatest Good Is What We Do For One Another” – Mother Teresa

Psi Iota Talent Hunt

Dover, DE. March 18, 2017. The Psi Iota Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity Incorporated held its annual Talent Hunt and chose to do something entirely different in addition to the regular performances. This year it was decided to highlight an art exhibit within the contest.

The students of William Henry Middle School (WHMS) exhibited their art works at Dover High School during the Annual Talent Hunt Program. Thirty one works of art of 5th and 6th graders were exhibited and judged by the participants of the event.

Three groups of art works were presented. Studies of Values (black and white) were done by pencil on paper depicting three shaded apples. Realistic Studies of Complimentary Colors (yellow-purple, red-green, blue-orange) were done by color pencils on paper depicting two-object Still Life (i.e. yellow lemon and purple grapes, red candle and green apple, blue bottle and orange). Complimentary Colors and Patterns were studied in two other projects: Warm Hands and Color Design. One Landscape showed use of various lines (thin/thick, curvy/straight).

The audience there to see the Talent Hunt contestants actively participated in the choosing of the winners. Votes were submitted for favorite pieces of art work. Ten winners were chosen and various gifts were awarded to the top three pieces of art work.

This event was a success because of WHMS Art teacher, Dr. Marina Borovok, and WHMS teacher, Brother Jamel Trott. Both teachers were so very proud of their talented students.

Tau Lambda Lambda Talent Hunt

Tau Lambda Lambda Brothers present Anthony Williams Talent Hunt Award

LaPlata, MD. March 4, 2017. As the lights dimmed and everyone turned their attention to the stage, the Tau Lambda Lambda chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. kicked off its 9th Annual Talent Hunt competition. The event was held on Saturday, March 4, 2017 at the College of Southern Md in LaPlata, Md.

A nationally mandated program of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, the Talent Hunt competition is a yearly event hosted by Tau Lambda Lambda and is open to high school students from the DMV area. Cash prizes are awarded to the top three competitors, with the first place winner advancing to the regional competition.

When speaking about the Talent Hunt, Chairman Quentin Lowe had this to say "Because the arts program has had a drastic reduction in the roles of schools, I love that TLL provides a platform for young people to display their various talents".

Seven students displayed their various talents in three categories that included: vocal, dance, instrumental and dramatic interpretation.

Anthony Richardson, a talented composer and acoustic guitar player, placed first in the competition. Richardson, received a $500 cash award. Anthony will represent Tau Lambda Lambda at the 69th Second District Conference in Rye Brook, NY.

First and second runners-up were Braelyn Thayer and Hayley Stewart, respectively.

While delivering his remarks, Daniel Ebb, Basileus of Tau Lambda Lambda, stated that "the Talent Hunt has a special meaning to me because I've played an instrument since the fifth grade and have played trumpet professionally for the Redskins for the past 11 years. So performing is in my soul!"

Tau Lambda Lambda CIAA Raffle

Waldorf, MD February 3, 2017. The Brothers of Tau Lambda Lambda chapter (TLL) of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. held its annual Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association (CIAA) raffle at Grille 13 located at 173 St Patricks Drive in Waldorf, MD 20603.

In preparation for the raffle drawing, the Brothers sold over 300 tickets to families and friends in the Southern Maryland community. After pounding the pavement and shaking the trees, we had three winners. First place: Ms. Ruth Wilson, second place: Mr. Anthony Stewart, and third place Ms. Lula Parran. The grand prize winner received two round trip plane tickets and a three nights stay at the Hilton Garden Inn during the 2017 CIAA Basketball Tournament held at Time Warner Cable Arena in Charlotte, North Carolina, February 20-26, 2017.

The CIAA raffle is one of TLL's biggest funder-raiser events for our Scholarship program and we have awarded more than $70,000 in scholarships to worthy high school students in the tri-county area of Charles, St. Mary's, and Calvert County. The scholarships help students and their families offset college expenses.

When asked about the importance of the CIAA raffle, Chairman Stephon Cunningham had this to say, "It brings my heart joy to see people donate to a worthy cause by helping young people achieve their dream of going to college and furthering their education".

In addition to raising much-needed funds for aspiring high school seniors, the raffle also brings awareness to historically black colleges and universities (HBCU), to which many students in Southern Maryland have yet to be exposed. Please note, HBCU's offer students, regardless of their race, an opportunity to develop their skills and talents to serve domestically and internationally as professionals, and entrepreneurs.

Lambda Gamma Gamma "We Feed Our People" Program

Anacostia, SE Washington, D.C. January 16, 2017. It was the year 1999 when Lambda Gamma Gamma Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. anxiously seized the opportunity to partner with "We Feed Our People" program in Washington, D.C. to assist with providing hot food, warm clothes, and a form of Uplift to homeless and less fortunate citizens in the Washington D.C. area. It has been 17 consecutive years that Lambda Gamma Gamma Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. has graciously been a vital organization involved in this program and it is Lambda Gamma Gamma's intent to remain an integral participant in future years to come. This year 2017, the "We Feed Our People" took post at The Big Chair, in Anacostia, Southeast Washington D.C. - Once considered the world's largest chair. When "We Feed Our People" first commenced in 1988, the program that provided food for the homeless and less fortunate did not provide meals on Sundays nor Federal holidays. Unfortunately, as a result, this caused Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s. Federal holiday to become damaging to many citizens that Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. dedicated years of his life attempting to help. On Monday, January 16, 2017, 25 Brothers from Lambda Gamma Gamma Chapter came out to the Big Chair location and extended their services from 8:00am to 4:00pm distributing warm clothes and hot meals to over 1,000 citizens of the Anacostia, Washington D.C. area. In the days leading up to the frigid cold, Monday, January 16, 2017, the Lambda Gamma Gamma Chapter, We Feed Our People Committee Chairman, Bro. Erick Tyrone hosted two clothing drives that reaped over 600 lbs of warm garments that were donated to citizens at We Feed Our People in Anacostia, SE Washington, D.C. It was very rewarding to see smiles generate on the many faces of individuals and families that received nice warm garments. Homeless veterans found it very rewarding to be reassured that they have not been forgotten but yet appreciated for their years of military service. To receive a warm home cooked meal, speak with recently retired veterans of Lambda Gamma Gamma, share stories of places they have toured, and world events that they have experienced/survived, brought hope and encouragement to many that attended the We Feed Our People in Anacostia, SE Washington, D.C. Lambda Gamma Gamma plans to continue to actively support the "We Feed Our People" in Washington, D.C.

Tau Lambda Lambda Adopt A Road

Tau Lambda Lambda Brothers Adopt a Road Program in Charles County, MD.

Charles County, MD. March 25, 2017. Thirty Brothers from the Tau Lambda Lambda Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc., gathered to support the Charles County Adopt-a-Road program. The chapter has been a participant in the program since 2007.

The Adopt-A-Road Program, helps to keep Charles County cleaner, saves taxpayer dollars, and promotes local community involvement and civic responsibility. TLL's participation in this program helps reduce trash and litter along County roads to maintain a clean and attractive environment. We service a 1.5 mile stretch which begins at the intersection of Smallwood Drive and Middletown Road. TLL collected over a dozen (30 pound) garbage bags during this clean up.

Charles County encourages residents/businesses to help combat the ever-increasing problem of littering by "adopting" a County road. Volunteers receive sign recognition for cleaning their road three (3) times in a calendar year.

Residents and middle/high school students are invited to participate (to acquire mandated community service volunteer hours) and fellowship with members of TLL while serving their community.

Gamma Pi Project ENRICH

Bowie, MD. January 21, 2016. When it comes to working with young people, the Brothers of Gamma Pi Chapter enjoy sharing their knowledge and connecting young students with mentors and others who can help them chart a course to success. That philosophy is most evident in Gamma Pi's Project ENRICH program that meets monthly at Bowie State University and was on display Saturday, January 21, during a careers presentation.

In a different twist this year, Project ENRICH director Bro. Willie Hines arranged for students to hear from just two presenters for Career Day. The focus this year was on entrepreneurship. In featuring just two professionals, Project ENRICH was able to turn the spotlight on business ownership rather than type of occupation.

Brother Anthony Stewart connected quickly and directly with students when he "got real" and told them that his success today was a direct contrast to his rural farm upbringing on Maryland's Eastern Shore. He talked openly about his status as the lowest-performing child academically among nine siblings in the household. "Everybody in my family has a graduate degree and they all graduated Magna Cum Laude and Summa Cum Laude and I graduated, 'Thank you Lawdy.' I barely got out of here" (Bowie State, 1985), he said to laughs from the full auditorium.

Brother Stewart, owner of Stewart Financial Services, Inc., shared his story about how he ambled around early in the years immediately after college not knowing what he really wanted to do with his life. A Business major, he initially was consumed with becoming a Xerox salesman. He pursued that dream as long as he could – coming "close, but no cigar." He recalled how with a pregnant wife and living in a small condo, he struck out on his own knowing very little about how money works or the financial services industry, but with a strong curiosity and a willingness to learn. He found himself very interested in the topic and it led him to his own financial services business part-time initially and then full-time. To the Project ENRICH students, Brother Stewart's story was an example of a creative way to put your college education to work even if your GPA is not very high. Brother Stewart's main message: "Don't ever chase money; chase your dreams,"

Another presenter, Andrew Clark, from the local area, talked about how he built a successful three-location physical therapy business by stepping away from what seemed like a secure job to take a risk. The stability and solid state of the physical therapy profession was a good building block for him to develop a business.

His overriding message to the youth was to choose a field where demand is high.

Clark, owner of Sports Pro Physical Therapy and Aquatic Center, spent several minutes explaining the academic requirements to become a fully certified physical therapist. He also provided statistics on the demographic makeup of the industry emphasizing that only about 4% of physical therapy professionals are African Americans.

Gamma Pi Achievement Week Activities

*Gamma Pi's Omega Man of the Year
Brother William Smith*

Grand Basileus Brother Antonio Knox is interviewed for Gamma Pi's "Community UPLIFT" TV show

National Harbor, MD. November 19, 2016. For Gamma Pi Chapter, Achievement Week 2016 was a full and successful week of activities that underscored the chapter's reputation as The Super Chapter. More than 100 Brothers participated in Achievement Week programs that started Sunday, November 13 and ended with a community awards event honoring local grassroots leaders and chapter members for a year of accomplishment.

Chapter Brothers honored this year were William Smith, Omega Man of the Year; Lucian Cox, Superior Service Award; Lawrence Dukes, Founder's Award; and Brig. Gen. R. Scott "Scottie" Dingle received the Col. Charles Young Award. Bro. Dingle also served as a keynote speaker for Achievement Week. Also, Willie Hines, Jr., whose dad Willie Hines Sr., runs Gamma Pi's Project ENRICH initiative, was named Student-Athlete of the Year.

This year, the presence of Omega Psi Phi Grand Basileus Bro. Antonio Knox energized Brothers throughout Achievement Week as he gave a powerful, spirited and uplifting talk to chapter members and Omega guests for the Annual Brothers Only dinner on Friday, November 17, at Joint Base Andrews. More than 100 Omega men gathered for the private dinner and Bro. Knox was a timely speaker for the occasion as he put into perspective the recently-completed U.S. election results, reminding Brothers just weeks after the election that these are time that Omega men are best prepared to lead in tough times.

"If you go back and look at the history books; and you don't have to go back to the history books of the Fraternity, but the history books of this United States, you'll see that since Omega has been founded, we have been involved in trying to make a difference in our community."

Immediately after the dinner, Brother Grand Knox recorded a short segment for Gamma Pi's local TV show, "Community UPLIFT," which airs via local cable systems FiOS and Comcast.

The Fraternity's Grand Keeper of Records and Seal and Gamma Pi's own Bro. Kenneth Rodgers also attended the Brothers Only dinner and brought greetings, along with newly installed Second District Representative Bro. Sherman Charles.

Bro. Brig. Gen. Dingle, a member of the chapter, was the keynote speaker at the communitywide Achievement Week program held Saturday, November 19 at the Washington National Harbor. His message dovetailed nicely with the Grand Basileus' message the night before as he talked about "not losing your bearings" as Gamma Pi goes about doing the work of Omega. "Although we are on the course of living our Founders' vision, yet there is still some work that needs to be done."

Earlier in the week, Brothers attended a church service hosted by the Brother Rev. Brian King, Gamma Pi chaplain, completed a series of community service projects and attended the Re-dedication ceremony at Howard University on November.

Gamma Pi Mardi Gras

National Harbor, MD. March 25, 2017. Last year, Gamma Pi broke a 20-plus year tradition and moved its annual Mardi Gras Extravaganza to the Washington National Harbor, the hottest new entertainment district on the East Coast. It saw the largest attendance ever for Mardi Gras and brought a fresh new vibe to the chapter's signature social event.

The return to National Harbor for this year's Mardi Gras, held on Saturday, March 25, proved last year was no fluke as more than 1,000 people packed the Gaylord National Hotel and Conference Center on the National Harbor, for an exciting night of entertainment.

Mardi Gras is often billed as a "party with a purpose." Each year, the event is held to raise funds for social action programs in conjunction with the Friendship Charities Foundation, Inc. Gamma Pi and Friendship Charities took the opportunity at this year's Mardi Gras to award retiring Bowie State University president Bro. Dr. Mickey Burnim with a proclamation honoring his outstanding service to Bowie State University, the Prince George's County community and higher education. Bro. Dr. Burnim is retiring at the end of the academic year. Several other dignitaries -- including Fraternity officers and elected leaders -- were also in attendance.

Leading the entertainment for the evening was the hot all-Omega musical aggregation, Just's Friends, led by none other than Bro. District Representative Sherman "Shorty" Charles. For the third year in a row, Just's Friends moved and grooved and kept the night going full blast. The crowd was also treated to an elegant late evening breakfast.

Another entertainment highlight for the evening was the costume parade that takes place during the "halftime" break of the event. Partygoers representing various competitive categories strutted around the venue to Louisiana Zydeco music sporting colorful umbrellas reminiscent of New Orleans-style Mardi Gras. Cash prizes were awarded.

Also during the event, patrons were able to watch a "silent video" of Gamma Pi's and Friendship Charities Foundation, Inc.'s community work over the past year, scrolling by on two large video screens. From children and youth to families and seniors, the people being served in the scenes reflected the deep and abiding commitment to community causes that both Gamma Pi Chapter and the Friendship organization possess.

It was another exciting Mardi Gras night in a string of many for Gamma Pi Chapter. Congratulations to Brother Ronald Swann, Chairman, and Co-Chair Brother Rodney Beverly, for another outstanding job for Year Two at National Harbor. Portions of the event were broadcast live on Twitter.

Gamma Pi Talent Hunt Competiton

Gamma Pi Talent Hunt Overall Winner MaKenzie Sherman celebrates her victory

Springdale, MD. March 11, 2017. People who have attended Gamma Pi Chapter’s Annual Talent Hunt over the years know while sitting in the audience they are fortunate to be watching some of tomorrow’s stars today –for free. That’s why the event is so popular. This year’s talent Hunt was no exception. A nearly full house turned out at the Charles H. Flowers High School for an entertaining Saturday afternoon program.

After weeks of tryouts and then rehearsals under the direction of Bro. Dr. Leroy Barton, Jr., a music professor, it was down to 19 performers and 6 artists vying for the overall winner’s title and for placing in the individual categories. This year’s performers covered a wide range of talents: dancers, dramatists, instrumentalists, pianists, vocalists and even artists who paint and draw. Throughout the program, an active and engaged audience let the judges know who they favored as the competition unfolded.

MaKenzie Sherman, a senior at Largo High School, was judged the Overall Winner of Gamma Pi’s 2017 Talent Hunt. She won the competition with a dazzling classical piano performance of Moonlight Sonata Opus No. 27 by Beethoven. Young Ms. Sherman will represent Gamma Pi Chapter at the 69th Second District Conference in Rye, N.Y. in May. As always, Gamma Pi fielded an All-Star lineup of professional judges led by Eric Summers, Director of the popular Washington Redskins Band. Other judges were comprised of a local college and high school music and fine arts educators.

“Our community is so full of talent and promise – it’s really encouraging,” said Bro. Dr. Barton. “Every year we look forward to showcasing this talent to the community, and the community thanks us by coming out in large numbers and getting into the show. This is what the Annual Talent Hunt is all about. All the news about our young people is not bad or depressing.”

When it was all over, the hyped up crowd was still primed for more as the energy level rose again with the suspense over the announcement of the winners. Congratulations to Bro. Dr. Barton (chair) and Bro. William Lloyd, co-chair, and their committee for producing another outstanding Talent Hunt program. Brother Richard W. Allison II served as Master of Ceremonies for the occasion. Gamma Pi Basileus Bro. Tony Lee gave the official welcome. Can’t you hear the musicians tuning up for next year?

Gamma Pi Brother Makes House Calls with “Vet on Wheels”

Bro. Dr. Foy and daughter, Dr. Mari-Ashli Foy, prepare to perform a procedure

Anne Arundel County, MD. March 24, 2017. One thing that signifies Gamma Pi Chapter is its professional diversity. We have men from every walk of life populating The Super Chapter -- doctors, lawyers, business leaders, teachers, preachers, military leaders and government executives, as well as computer scientists and members serving on all levels of law enforcement. When it comes to medicine, one member of Gamma Pi is a noted expert in providing medical treatment to animals. as a Veterinarian. That person is none other than Bro. Dr. Harrison Foy, DVM (Rho Psi '67), who was featured recently in The Capital Gazette news paper in Anne Arundel County.

Bro. Dr. Foy was touted in the article for his innovative “Vet on Wheels” mobile unit that allows him to provide “house call-style” medical care to pets around the Washington, D.C. and Baltimore metro area. The story was published in a prominent place in the newspaper with a photo of Bro. Dr. Foy holding a kitten “patient” along with an associate in tow. His medical practice is appropriately called NMotion Home Veterinary Care (www.nmotionhomeveterinarycare.net). The rolling pet medical facility is a 26-foot step van that can handle a wide variety of medical procedures for sick and injured pets.

Bro. Dr. Foy has paved the way for many other young African Americans, including his own daughter, to enter the veterinary medical field. His wife, an Yvette, is also a veterinarian. Bro. Dr. Foy is also responsible for four young women whose fathers are members of Gamma Pi Chapter being able to currently study under full-ride scholarships at Tennessee State University, his alma mater. His contributions in the area of education symbolize the commitment to Scholarship that The Founders challenged all Omega men to embrace. Bro. Dr. Foy truly is a keeper of the Four Cardinal Principles.

You can read The Capital Gazette article about Bro. Dr. Foy as well as the articles about his educational contributions to Gamma Pi offspring, at The Super Chapter’s blog, Gamma Pi LIVE: www.gammapiblog.blogspot.com

Gamma Pi Escorts Que Kidz Program to African American Museum of History and Culture

Gamma Pi Brothers escort Que Kidz at National Museum

Washington, D.C. January 28, 2017. The long-awaited National Museum of African American History and Culture has been so popular that people are still waiting for weeks just to get a shot at the free tickets required to get in. But some lucky youth from the underserved Kentland Community in Prince George’s County got to experience the museum early this year, thanks to Gamma Pi Chapter.

The Gamma Pi Que Kidz program escorted a group of kids from Kentland to the African American Museum on Saturday, January 28. For these youths, the trip was an introduction to a very special cultural and social opportunity they otherwise would not get, which is what Que Kidz is all about.

.It was a great outing! There was so much to see and experience that the group could not cover it all in one day, but they got most of it in, enough to make a memorable impression on them. There was no exhibit that could not excite them. On this Saturday, based on the buzz generated before, during and after the trip, the kids felt like they struck gold! As these kids grow up, they will always remember it was “The Ques” who took them on their first visit to the African American museum.

The museum brought African American history to life in a way that no history lesson in school could for the youth. This trip helped the youth identify with something much larger than themselves that they are also part of as a generational link.

“One of the things we stress in Que Kidz is that these young people have fun while learning,” said Bro. Kevin Greenwood. “This was certainly the case on this trip. We will never forget seeing their reactions to being at this very special place in our nation’s history.”

The trip was also memorable in another way. A “tweet” that the chapter sent out highlighting the trip –which included a photo of the kids inside -- was “liked” by the Museum and posted on its own official Twitter page. The Gamma Pi museum trip tweet was viewed more than 9,100 times.

Iota Nu Manhood Forum at McDaniel College

Westminster, MD. November 16, 2016. Iota Nu Brothers on the campus of McDaniel College hosted a forum on Manhood. The event was specifically catered to young African American males, who were instructed to dress in business attire for the event. The aim of the program was to discuss the challenges facing young black men in society, but more specifically, at those attending a predominantly white institution. Brother Michael Wright (6-16-IN) led the discussion. It was established that although the odds may be stacked against black males at a predominantly white institution, it is important that we focus on excelling academically and becoming well-rounded students, so that it is harder to be placed into a box or be subject to a negative label.

Iota Nu Human Trafficking Forum at McDaniel College

Westminster, MD. March 29, 2017. In response to the recent outbreak of human trafficking incidents throughout the state and especially Washington, D.C., the Brothers of Iota Nu held a forum on human trafficking on the campus of McDaniel College. Brother Marquise Findley-Smith (16-IN) led the discussion of the epidemic by first showing a video that illustrated the ways in which women can be abducted, that do not fit the mold of the typical "white van" abductions. Stories of survivors of human trafficking were shared, as well as statistics for human trafficking in Maryland. Several strategies for prevention and reduction in the future were discussed, the most prominent of which included spreading awareness to younger crowds.

Historical Perspective

Omega Men in FDR's Black Cabinet

Franklin Delano Roosevelt's Black Cabinet

Born of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's "New Deal", the unofficial Black Cabinet was a group of African-American men who worked within the New Deal and had access to the Oval Office. First known as the Federal Council of Negro Affairs, they were an informal group of African-American public policy advisors to President Roosevelt.

Initially, after his election, President Roosevelt, paid little attention to racial issues, focusing instead on the nation's economic crisis. But to enact his relief and recovery programs, Roosevelt needed the backing of Southern members of Congress. Neither he nor his political operatives at first grasped the growing importance of black voters in Northern cities. And although the Roosevelt administration claimed to adhere to non-discriminatory policies, many New Deal programs openly discriminated against blacks.

When he came into office in 1933, the country was just about closed down. There was the feeling that the government had to do something to restore confidence. Roosevelt tried everything he could to get the nation out of the Depression.

Out of this period of massive homelessness came relief from Washington in the form of the "New Deal," a series of economic policies introduced by President Franklin D. Roosevelt after the Great Depression left the U.S. economy in a dismal state. The programs were implemented to provide relief to millions of Americans that were stuck in a state of poverty as a result of the Great Depression. The various programs were rolled out over five years (1933-1938) and covered a range of items including labor, bank, and relief reforms. The New Deal had many opponents, some of whom felt the programs built up the power held by the government and promoted capitalism. And besides, although the Roosevelt administration claimed to adhere to non-discriminatory policies, many New Deal programs openly discriminated against blacks.

Still, as early as the congressional election of 1934, African-American voters were deserting Abraham Lincoln's Republican Party and voting Democratic. Continued migration northward and a sharp reduction in the illiteracy rate among blacks, attributed in part to the New Deal programs, expanded the black electorate which in many cities was reaching critical numbers.

By mid-1935, forty-five African-Americans had positions in cabinet offices and New Deal agencies.

In 1936, this group began calling itself the Federal Council on Negro Affairs. Although these leaders were not officially cabinet members, their role in advising the President on black employment, education, and civil rights issues led the press to refer to them as FDR's "Black Cabinet" or the "Black Brain Trust."

This informal group of African-American public policy advisors was to help the country emerge from the depression. Omega men Robert C. Weaver, Lawrence Oxley, Roscoe Brown, Frank Horne, William Hastie, J. Arthur Weiseger, Ted Poston, Campbell C. Johnson and William Trent were among those who served on the cabinet.

Bro. Lawrence Oxley was appointed to the US Department of Labor. In addition to working on programs in their respective areas in executive agencies, the appointees served as unofficial advisers to the president on New Deal programs, and their impact on African-American communities during the Great Depression cannot be overstated. Oxley worked on programs to improve employment opportunities for African Americans. In 1937, he published "Government Employment and Negro Youth", an article encouraging use of the U.S. Employment Services opportunities. By publishing in a widely read journal, Oxley used an existing network to distribute information about government programs.

Bro. Robert Clifton Weaver in 1933, Weaver was appointed as an aide to United States Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes. Coming with a reputation for knowledge about housing issues, Bro. Weaver was invited to join President Franklin D. Roosevelt's Black Cabinet in 1934.

Bro. Weaver had expressed his concerns about African American housing issues in his 1930 article, "Negroes Need Housing," published by the NAACP magazine The Crisis after the Stock Market Crash. He noted there was a great difference between the income of most African Americans and the cost of living; African Americans did not have enough housing supply because of many social factors, including the long economic decline of rural areas in the South. He suggested a government housing program to enable African Americans the chance to buy or rent housing.

Bro. Weaver drafted the U.S Housing Program under Roosevelt, which was established in 1937. The program was intended to provide financial support to local housing departments, as a subsidy toward lowering the rent paid by poor African American families. The program decreased the average rent from $19.47 per month to $16.80 per month. Weaver claimed the scope of this program was insufficient, as there were still many African Americans who made less than the average income. They could not afford to pay for both food and housing. In addition, generally restricted to segregated housing, African Americans could not necessarily take advantage of other subsidized housing.

Bro. William J Trent Jr. held Government posts in Washington from 1938 to 1944, during the Administration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, first as an official of the Department of the Interior with the title of Adviser on Negro Affairs to the Secretary of the Interior, Harold L. Ickes, and then as race relations officer in the Federal Works Agency.

Bro. Ted Poston, as head of the Negro News desk in the Office of War Information, Poston provided vital information to black newspapers across the nation in the campaign to integrate the defense industry workforce. His efforts were partly responsible for Executive Order 8802 in June 1941, which banned racial discrimination in companies with government contracts. After World War II, Poston wrote serialized short stories for various newspapers. Most of these stories addressed issues of social justice and racial discrimination. He wrote a series, “Horror in the Sunny South,” about the 1949 rape trial of a group of young black men in Florida. The series received the George Polk Award for national reporting in 1949.

Bro. Colonel Campbell C. Johnson served as an advisor on race issues in the Select Service system. In 1940 he was as an assistant to the Director of Select Services. He was Director of the Racial Relations section of the Select Services, and an assistant to the Director. The Marine Corps first opened themselves to Black volunteers in 1942. To the dismay of the Marines, only 63 African Americans joined. Lieutenant Colonel Campbell C. Johnson decided that he would actively recruit Black Marines. Due to his efforts African Americans began joining the Marine Corps in droves, at a rate of more than 1,000 a month in 1943.

Bro. Dr. Frank S. Horne accepted a call from Mary McLeod Bethune, in 1936, to work in Franklin Delano Roosevelt’s “Black Cabinet” as Assistant Director of the Division of Negro Affairs’ National Youth Administration in Washington D.C. In 1938, he joined Robert C. Weaver as Assistant Director for the United States Housing Authority, later named the Federal Public Housing Administration (FHA). In addition, he was involved with the National Housing Agency and Office of Housing Expeditor. In 1949, he was designated a member of the Civil Service Committee of Expert Examiners for the Housing and Home Finance Agency (HHFA). In May of 1950, he conducted HHFA research into the economic situation of Negro war workers. Horne was noted as being one of the founders of the National Committee Against Discrimination in Housing (NCDH). In October of 1953, Horne was reassigned as “Assistant to the Administrator” of the HHFA after the Eisenhower administration made a concentrated effort to dismiss him.

Bro. Dr. Roscoe Brown was a pioneer in the field of Public Health, particularly as it pertained to African-Americans. Dr. Brown, a successful Dentist, gave up his practice to serve in the U.S. Public Health Service. Bro. J. Arthur Weiseger was an advisor to the Department of Labor. Over all FDR’s administration tripled the number of African Americans working for the federal government, including thousands of black engineers, architects, lawyers, librarians, office managers, and other professionals. Under President Roosevelt’s leadership, and with the strong support of his wife Eleanor Roosevelt, the Democrats included the first specific African American plank in the party platform at their 1936 convention.

IS HASTIE HEADED FOR SUPREME COURT BENCH?

*Reprinted from
The Journal and Guide*

WILLIAM HENRY Hastie might very well be the first American of African descent to achieve a seat on the bench of the United States Supreme Court.

He has just been appointed by President Harry S. Truman to the highest judicial post ever filled by a Negro, the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. Only court higher is the Supreme Court.

Exclusion of traditional presidential appointments of Negroes to the District of Columbia Municipal Court. JUDGE-DESIGNATE HASTIE was the first of his race to preside in a federal court.

On Feb. 5, 1945, President Roosevelt nominated him as judge of the U. S. District Court for the Virgin Islands. He has been governor of the islands since May, 1946, also by Rooseveltian appointment. All governors of the Virgin Islands before him had been white.

Judge Hastie has indeed had a remarkable career. As President Truman said at St. Thomas Island during his February, 1948, Caribbean tour, while an Interior Department solicitor, he drafted the law, later passed by Congress, under which the islands are administered; he then interpreted the law as district federal judge; and finally administered the islands as governor.

Following a brilliant college career at Amherst and Harvard, Judge Hastie has served notably as a government attorney, a judge, a governor, a law professor and dean of law at Howard University, and as the first civilian aide to Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson.

He resigned from the latter post in protest against Army Air Forces racial policies. The dignity and compelling logic of his resignation focused attention on the problem and paved the way for the progressive developments which have come in the Air Force and the Navy particularly.

Oddly enough, although his criticisms on military policy were sharp criticism of conditions instituted by Mr. Roosevelt, but not up to them materially improved by him. Judge Hastie has not suffered the penalties often borne by men whose action resemble.

Not the least of his accomplishments was his handling of numerous legal suits testing civil rights, voting denials, and educational inequalities. Some years ago he was awarded the Spingarn Medal, and eminently merited it.

An intellectual who can also match the best in the rough-and-tumble of politics, Judge Hastie's entire career strengthens the conviction that he will prove to be a widely respected and influential member of the federal appellate bench. He will bring honor to an honored profession.

In the next ten or dozen years—Judge Hastie is now only 45—there will be a Supreme Court vacancy for which he should have proved himself wholly qualified.

The President then in office—and the Senate—will have an historic opportunity to prove that ability need not be forfeited by race and that America is, in fact, the land of opportunity—and democracy.

We shall see . . .

CAROLINA'S LIBERAL GOVERNOR SCOTT WELCOMES GOVERNOR HASTIE

"We are happy to welcome you, Governor," says Governor W. Kerr Scott of North Carolina, to Governor William H. Hastie, of the Virgin Islands, as the latter filled a speaking engagement in Rocky Mount, February 8. This marked the first time that a Southern governor has personally welcomed Governor Hastie to a Southern state. Later that evening Brother Hastie was entertained at a smoker by Omega brothers of that area. (Photo—courtesy Journal and Guide).

Governor, City Officials Join in Welcome to Hastie

By A. A. MORISEY

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C.—The conviction that the day is approaching when the South will be the center of liberalism in America was expressed here by Governor William H. Hastie of the Virgin Islands.

Governor Hastie, who was introduced by Governor W. Kerr Scott of North Carolina, spoke in the Booker T. Washington High School Auditorium before a capacity crowd of 2,500 from Eastern North Carolina.

The chief executive of the Virgin Islands pointed to the election of Governor Scott, who had just introduced him, and the great victory of President Truman at the polls last November as proof that, despite loud blasts from Dixiecrats, the forces of liberalism are on the march in Dixie.

The present era, he declared, is an opportunity for plain people, black and white to make the South a great sector of liberal thought. Among the causes for this conviction he cited the breakdown of the barriers against voting and the demise of the "white primary." Soon millions of Negroes joining with whites in the South will use their votes for the good of all the plain people of the region, he concluded.

In introducing Governor Hastie, Governor Scott broke so-called "Southern precedents." It is recalled that Governor J. Strom Thurmond of the neighbor state of South Carolina last year withdrew an invitation sent to Hastie "by mistake." Governor Scott has already been termed one of the great liberals of the day. Since his inauguration in January, he has assured his constituents that Negroes will have a fairer participation in the affairs of North Carolina.

Governor Hastie's appearance was under sponsorship of the Rocky Mt. Civic Forum, of which Brother A. H. "Tuffy" Bryant is President. On arrival at the airport, he was greeted by Mayor J. R. Bennett and City Manager Roy Williamson.

After his formal address, Brother Hastie was guest of honor at a smoker in the home of Brother Stokes, sponsored by Alpha Omicron Chapter of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity.

Nu Upsilon Talent Hunt Contestants

Wilmington, DE. April 1, 2017. The Nu Upsilon Chapter, in collaboration with Nu Friendship Outreach, Inc., presented its Annual Talent Hunt Competition 2017: “Arts for the World IX”! The high school contestants, each with his/her unique gifts, demonstrated the poise and confidence indicative of mature, seasoned artists. The displays of talent included dramatic interpretation, dance, and vocal music, both classical and gospel. This was the first time in more than 10 years that more than one vocalist sang a gospel selection. The dance competitors performed creative, contemporary dance movements which left the audience gasping for breath due to the intensity and emotions displayed in the movements. The dramatic artists executed riveting monologue and poetic enactments. In the final analysis the highly experienced adjudication panel, with more than 100 years in the arts, selected Kaylynn Pride as the winner. Kaylynn engaged the audience in a phenomenal display of flips, twists and turns, and emotion, as she interpreted the musical selection, Bottom of the River by Delta Rae. The second and third place winners provided presentations that rival the best in the arts. Needless to say, our young people are truly gifted in the arts, and their performances did not disappoint us!

Brother Walter Irvin Johnson, II - Omega Chapter

Brother Walter I. Johnson, II

Brother Walter Irvin Johnson II, of Teaneck, NJ, born September 14th, 1915 transitioned to Omega Chapter on February 28th, 2017 at the home of his son, he was 101 years old. Brother Johnson was a member of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity for 81 years, initiated into Beta Chapter at Lincoln University in 1936. He served Beta Chapter as Vice Basileus and Basileus (1937-1939). Upon graduating, he became one of the founders of the Upsilon Alpha chapter in Atlantic City, NJ. serving as Keeper of Records and Seal until leaving for Howard. He was the last surviving founder of Upsilon Alpha Chapter. Joining Nu Beta Beta Chapter in Teaneck, NJ, he served as Historian and various committees over the years, receiving awards from both graduate chapters. Educated in Atlantic City Public Schools, graduating with honors in 1933 from Atlantic City High School, he attended Lincoln University in Pennsylvania and graduated Summa Cum Laude with a major in psychology and a minor in English. Matriculating at Howard University in Washington, D.C., he earned his Master of Science degree in 1941. Subsequent advanced studies in Psychology were completed at Manhattan's New School of Social Research and at New York University. Professionally, he held positions as Professor of Psychology in Barber-Scotia College in North Carolina and Professor of Psychology and Philosophy at West Virginia State College. In 1946, however, Walter began his first stint at what would be his most satisfying employment at the Wiltwyck School for boys near Hyde Park, N.Y. He served there for eight years as senior counselor, leaving for two years to assume a position as assistant and then Director of Boys at Manhattan's Fifth Avenue Children's Center, a temporary placement center for New York's dependent and neglected children. He returned to Wiltwyck as its Resident Director in 1954, a position he held until 1959. Wiltwyck was an interracial psychiatric treatment center for 100 emotionally disturbed New York City boys between the ages of eight and 12, and was one of only seven such centers located throughout the country.

Wiltwyck's proximity to Hyde Park, the home of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt and his wife Eleanor, made it a prime object of attention for many influential people. Mrs. Roosevelt was a trustee and a most active supporter of Wiltwyck, and would visit the school almost weekly when not abroad. Other important visitors during Walter's term as director included Marian Anderson, Paul Robeson, Josh White and Harry Belafonte. Mrs. Roosevelt often invited Walter and the Wiltwyck youngsters to her estate at Hyde Park for visits during the summer as well as during the Christmas holidays.

Two young residents at that time would go on to become famous in their own right. Floyd Paterson would become the World Heavyweight Boxing Champion and Claude Brown would eventually author the acclaimed novel, "Manchild in the Promised Land." In his written autobiography, Floyd credits Walter Johnson as the person who first put boxing gloves on his hands in an attempt to get him interested in some form of gym activity. In 1961, the family moved to Teaneck and Walter accepted a position of Manhattan Assistant Administrator of New York's Youth Services Agency after holding directorships of Brooklyn's Friendly House and Manhattan's Joan of Arc Center. He continued to hold several administrative positions in the Youth Division under Mayors Lindsay, Beame and Koch before retiring from city service in 1985.

The True Gentleman

The True Gentleman is the man whose conduct proceeds from good will and an acute sense of propriety, and whose self-control is equal to all emergencies; who does not make the poor man conscious of his poverty, obscure man of his obscurity, or any man of his inferiority or deformity; who is himself humbled if necessity compels him to humble another; who does not flatter wealth, cringe before power, or boast of his own possessions or achievements; who speaks with frankness but always with sincerity and sympathy; whose deed follows his word; who thinks of the rights and feelings of others, rather than his own; and who appears well in any company, a man with whom honor is sacred and virtue safe.

John Walter Wayland
